Speculation at the New York Stock Exchange was extremely dull, Saturday, the sales of stocks amounting to 45,784 shares. and of railway and miscellaneous bonds. $369,000. Their totals are unusually small and the duliness is explained by the absence of many operators at the races and country resorts. Considering the inactivity, the temper of speculation was quite firm. The bears in the room brought about a reaction of 16 to 15 per cent. on the heavy falling off in the bank reserves, but a recovery followed and the market burg & Western preferred, which rose 2% per cent., to 37%, the changes throughout the session were confined within a radius of 4@1 per cent. There was some covering of short contracts on the increase of $70,000 in the earnings of the St. Paul road for the second week of June and on advices from London that a movement of gold to America was imminent. The clearing house gave out only the totals of the bank averages, but omitted the statements show-ing the condition of the banks in detail. Railway bonds were quiet and firm. #### LOCAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

Trade of the Week Very Satisfactory for June with Light Supplies in Many Lines. For the second week in June the volume of trade was very satisfactory and there seems to be little question that more business will be done this month than in June last year. In dry goods, groceries, produce, provisions, fruits and vegetables firm prices prevail. Cherries are more plenty, strawberries are about off the market, but some very fine pine apples are coming in, which are being used for canning more largely than in former years. Eggs and poultry are in good request at quotations. The local grain market is active and receipts of corn are the largest in months. Indianapolis elevators on June 17 contained 92,182 bushels of wheat, against 39,-149 for the corresponding date in 1892; 39,500 bushels of corn, against 6,265 last year; 33,-550 bushels of oats, against 29,708 last year. Should Not Be Attempted. New York Commercial Advertiser.

A "celebration" at Jerusalem or anywhere else to commemorate the nineteenhandredth anniversary of the birth of Christ is pretty sure to degenerate into an absurd it not irreverent spectacle and travesty. Fitting anniversary exercises would consist chiefly of secret prayer, selfabasement and hearty repentence for sin. But these things have little charms for the class of persons who delight in pemp and show. There will be earth marks all over any elaborate celebration of this solemn occasion.

An Afterthought.

CORN HEADED DOWNWARD

The Quick Bulge of Friday Almost Entirely Wiped Out Yesterday.

Better Understanding of the Action of France in Removing Duties on Hay and Straw Gave No Encouragement to Bulls.

TRADING AT CHICAGO.

Provisions Showed a Better Tone, but the Volume of Business Was Light, CHICAGO, June 17 .- The corn market broke down to-day, but the drop was not so sharp as was the advance of Friday. There was, however, a reduction of about a cent a bushel. The French duty question was more clearly understood. Cables were numerous saying the action was only on hay and straw, with no prospect of other removals. It was also established by past | day. records that France only takes 7,000,000 to 25,000,000 bushels of outside corn on the average, and that the question of free admission of coarse grains was not so very important to American grain merchants after all. There was, of course, general selling out of corn by those who bought on the scare yesterday. The sentiment at the start was easier, and first trades were anywhere from 'se to 'se under the final figures of yesterday, and, after ruling steady for awhile, continued to grow weaker, selling off %c more. Later the price rallied a tritle, ruled fairly steady, but at the close had lost 4 @ %c.

There was only a light trade in wheat, and an easier feeling existed. The opening was easier and first sales were from about the same as yesterday's closing to so lower, receded 4 @ so, advanced 4 @ sc, then receded sc, the market touching inside prices, ruled steady and closing was about the lower for July and the lower for September than yesterday. The weakness was due to the unfavorable New York bank statement and the reported increasing shipments of wheat from Australia and little business in the way of changing over July to September, but the market was generally very quiet and dull. The clear-ances from the Atlantic coast were about the same as last week, and it is calculated that the visible supply will show a good

Oats were quiet and a shade lower in value, the close being made at 4 @ 20 under yesterday's tigures. Only a moderate scalping business was transacted. The provision market was strengthened by the receipts of 2,000 hogs less than was estimated yesterday. The firmness of prices, however, added scarcely anything to the volume of the day's business. Trading in pork was again conspicuously light. There were a few transactions in lard and ribs at from .05 to .0742c improvement over yesterday's prices for lard and from .114 to .1240 gain in the value of ribs. Closing prices show gains of 10@15c in pork. .05c in September lard and .07%c in ribs.

Freights were slow and rates to Buffalo steady at 242c for wheat and 2c for corn. Estimated receipts for Monday: Wheat, 117 cars; corn, 325 cars; cats, 217 cars; hogs, 19,000. The leading futures ranged as fol-

SHE IS SIMPLE AS A CHILD. Evening of the Life of Mrs. Stowe, Who

Was Eighty-One Years Old Last Week. Wednesday Harriet Beecher Stowe attained the great age of eighty-one years, having been born on June 14, 1812. She is thus only three years behind the Nestor of American letters, Dr. Holmes, the Auto-crat's birthday falling on Aug. 20, 1809. Hartford has many a claim to honor and ne in her institutions, or the achieve ments in various fields of some of her citizens, but if is probable that her greatest distinction is due to the fact that there has lived and worked and here will die the most famous literary woman of America, who by her writings has changed the United States Constitution and one of whose novels has gone around the world and had a sale second only to the Bible

It is a pleasant jaunt out on the hill and to Forest street, a few doors down which,

on the west side, stands the unpretentious but pretty grey-painted stone cottage, with peaked gables and dormers, which is owned and occupied by Mrs. Stowe. Here, her days of literary endeavor far behind, she is passing the blameless and honored evening of ber days, cared for by her daughters and nourished, one may well believe, on great memories. The interior of Mrs. Stowe's home shows a series of pleasant, well-appointed rooms, which aim comfort rather than elegance display. Her own sanctum has little of literary association, since almost ail her writing was done before she took up her abode in it. But one associates the authoress with the premises all about the home rather than with its interior, for she is outdoors the day long, except when prevented by the weather or the untowardly season. Notably active of body for her years, she is ever on foot, and her bent, slight tigure, with its white hair crowning the dark, wrinkled face, is a familiar sight to the Nook farmites-Nook farm being the name given aforetime to the Forest-street community. She wanders in and out the paths and gathers consolation from sun, and shade, and wind. She has the freedom of the fields, and the birds and the flowers know her. The love she shows for all growing and lonesome things no doubt helps to keep her out under the sky, and has preserved her in remarkable bodily vigor. She is fond of slipping across the street to the home of her sister, Mrs. Hooker, and one of her delights is to hear music sung or played. It is a moving sight to notice the subduing effect of songs and hymns upon her restless activity. For twenty years and more such have been her surroundings, and a sweet environment it is for such a soul, resting from its labors. As she walks the streets with her faithful attendant or wanders under the chestnut, it is not an infrequent sight to see a group of lion-hunting strangers, agog to be in the veritable presence of the creator of Uncle Tom and Topsy, stop and regard her with tender veneration. The writer 84c; pickled bame, 124 @13c. Middles dull has witnessed from workingmen and even careless lads a degree of respect and an evident sense of greatness nigh which have been touching and indicative of the widespread efficacy of noble accomplishment in life and literaure. Letters come too, of all kinds from the uttermost parts of the earth, sometimes importunate and ridiculous; interviews are requested and autographs galore are besought. Many a Hartford youngster, eager to bave her name in his copy of "Uncle Tom," is made glad by the firmly written signature, with the often added sentiment, a favorite one through life with Mrs. Stowe: "Trust in the Lord and do good." In the main, however, it is, for obvious reasons, an unmolested, carefully guarded existence led by this small woman, who stands for great ideas, great events, great memories, and who is, with Dr. Holmes, the last of the famous pioneers in our first national efflorescence in ietters. Only a few weeks ago, by-the-bye,

the Doctor wrote a long autographic letter
